LATEST BIRD SIGHTINGS

What bad luck – as soon as we had left the island at the end of October, the wind went round to the SE and stayed there for much of our holiday. Almost three weeks of our favourite wind!

There were some obvious arrivals during the period, including thrushes and Black-birds, with a few sightings of ‘owls’ in gardens – almost certainly Long-eared Owls, and several Woodcock flushed unexpectedly as ever. We can only guess what we might have missed!

A few small parties of Snow Buntings were also seen, with odd birds still present into mid-December, one very confiding male being seen several times in the road between Holin Cottage and Millbank. A party of 40 or so Barnacle Geese were seen in the Cleat area and this had swelled to over 70 by mid-December.

On returning from holiday in mid-November we noticed more Rock Pipits than in the previous ten years or so – including a party of five in the village street. A Grey Plover was on the beach in Lower Whitehall towards the end of the month, when a Whimbrel was also seen there. A party of Whooper Swans had taken up residence on the Bu Loch, sharing the territory with the family party of 5 Mute swans which were on the Matpow Loch for much of the summer. A Dabchick was also on the Bu Loch towards the end of November and two Goldeneye have been seen there on and off. An unusually late Ruff was in the field adjacent Holin Cottage on 2nd December, and Redshank are very numerous this year, but there are very few Curlew and Golden Plover this Winter – a real mystery, as both species are normally present in huge numbers. It is quite probable that they – like the wildfowl on the Meikle Water in particular – have been ousted by the sheer presence of the many thousands of Greylag Geese.

A real surprise in the Odiness garden on 1st December was a very late Yellow-browed Warbler, and a late Chiffchaff was seen there next day. Quite a few Goldcrests were seen at the beginning of the month when Snipe were very noticeable in huge numbers. Our rather dry, sandy, oat-patch alone had over sixty present on several days – and the area hardly seems suitable for this marshland/wetland species.

There have been a few sightings of birds of prey in early Winter, including 2-3 different Hen Harriers, at least two Merlins, a Kestrel, and one or two Peregrine Falcons.

Thanks once again for all the calls.

*Two very similarly-plumaged birds of similar size were photographed in late Autumn – the female Bullfinch taken by Diane at Tullimentan; the male Blackcap (in the hand) taken by Andy at St John's.
(The Blackcap was picked up exhausted on the door step at St John's but quickly recovered and flew off)*

SCIENCE EXPERIMENT REPORT

This term our topic is food in Upper Primary. So far we have been looking up foods from different places in the world. We've also been looking at labels on food packaging and learning about nutrition and the human body. For homework we each got given a food area like fat and vitamins. Then we had to make a poster about it.

On Wednesday 3rd December we went into Mrs Rose's science lab. We were doing a science experiment on how many calories are in the food.

Mrs Rose, who is our science teacher, kindly let us into her science lab to burn some food for our food topic. She told us what we needed to get and lots of other stuff. She gave us safety instructions like how to light the Bunsen burner. We burnt 3 types of food (e.g. spaghetti, prawn crackers etc.) to find out how much energy was in the food. We burnt the food to see how much the temperature of the water in the test tube rose. We recorded it on our result tables to find out what food had the most energy.

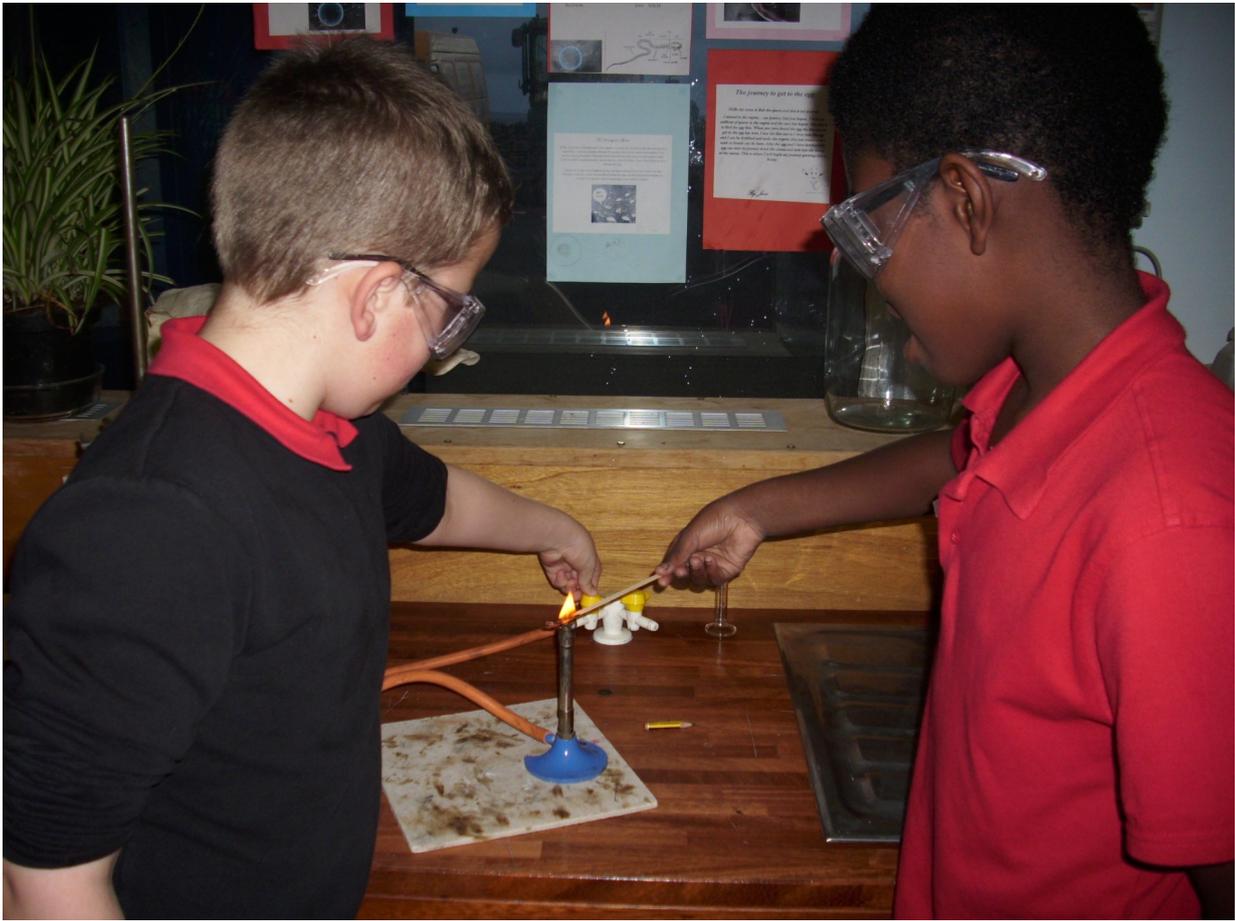

The burning food made a lot of smoke which set off the fire alarm twice in five minutes. We didn't get our final results properly because of the fire alarm going off.

We thought it was fun and we learned how to measure energy in calories without using the label. We learned how to set up and use equipment safely.

We would like to thank Mrs Rose for letting us use the science lab.

LOBSTER PONDS / ENTERPRISE ZONE UPDATE

Unfortunately the Building Warrant application which was submitted early in November was referred back to the architect for further structural information. That information has now been submitted to Building Standards and the Trust is hopeful that it will receive approval before Christmas, which would allow work to start on 5th January.

WRC Ltd, the building contractor, will be constructing the stud walls in their workshop in Kirkwall and transporting them in sections to Stronsay. This will allow them to work longer days and not be weather dependent.

Revising the original specifications for the build has led to a considerable delay for the project but will mean that it should be finished within budget. Fortunately WRC Ltd were able to put all the groundworks in place before the weather deteriorated.

BOOK FAIR!

by Upper Primary

In November Lewis, Mikey, John, Philip and Erik started to plan the book fair. Philip and John made a treasure hunt with riddles.

Mikey made a guess who? He had to crop pictures of a book character and print it out. We made quizzes and we organized a raffle. Erik made some decorations and he had to blow up balloons for decorating. We did some posters for the book fair. Gaynor made 2 cakes.

Parents and Community were invited to the book fair on Friday 26th November. There were loads and loads of books as well as stationery and posters at the book fair. Everyone liked the treasure hunt, guess who and the free raffle etc. The pupils also got to come to school in their pyjamas. At the kitchen Arna and Wilma were handing out hot chocolate, cookies, tea, coffee and juice. We all thought it was fabulous. Fraser thought it was “epicabulous” and Elizabeth thought it was “AMAZING”. The total amount raised was a whopping £560.36. Stronsay school will receive 40% commission for new books in the library. We would like to thank everyone who was involved in the book fair and those who came and helped us make lots of money.

STRONSAY COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION CHRISTMAS CRAFT SALE

This year's Christmas Craft Sale was another overwhelming success. A big thank you to Stronsay Community Association for organizing it, setting up the Halls and supplying all the wonderful home bakes, yummy hot chocolates, teas, coffees and raffle. ## GROWING OLDER IN ORKNEY

I would like to extend my thanks to everyone who came to the intergenerational group in Stronsay and Kirkwall and helped to gather some Stronsay Memories for an online Memory Box.

The photos have been put on Growing older in Orkney, <http://www.goio.co.uk/#!/our-stronsay-4/cm4> in the first instance.

We will also be setting up a forum dedicated only to Stronsay Memories where the public can add to photos, add names where we don't have them as yet and comments or memories of events that we have photos of. Once this work is done we will notify the island through the Limpet of the link to the forum.

My thanks to Bruce Fletcher who will very kindly be moderating this forum to ensure that we don't get any inappropriate posts.

Please feel free to share the link to the Growing older in Orkney (GOIO) site with anyone who is interested in what we have been doing.

I would also be keen to encourage some of the younger residents to visit the older people on island and collect their memories to add to the online Memory box. If you are interested in doing this please contact me on 01856 872897 or email:

SKIN!

By Ellie from Newfield

Now why does the cow wear leather
While man “makes do” with skin?
Which to be fair is water-proof
Leaking out but never in.
Our designer, I feel sure, must look down
And maybe with regret.
For man would far buch better in leather
So there’s room for improvement yet.
The cow spends winters indoors
With a roof over its head,
Surely then he wouldn’t suffer
Wearing man’s skin instead.
That common cold suffered by all
Aided by impractical skin
While the cow in his leather “onesie”
Keeps dry from the outside in.
So then maybe upon reflection
With a word in the right ear
The designer might re-consider
Having all farmers born into leather gear.
Then when standing out in the fields
And rain appears from the west
Alas, caught out again is our farmer
Who’d now benefit from a leather vest.
And then in time of hailstones
I’d no longer flinch in my leather attire
But simply do as the cows do,
Placing my backside in the line of fire.
And mother’s words in times gone by
Which went “I’ll tan your hide”
Will become clear at last
When in possession of a leather backside.

Introducing My New Body Balms

No longer satisfied with proprietary creams I decided to make my first pot of balm a few years ago and have never looked back. It was only a matter of time before friends were asking if they could try some and I was so pleased to hear that they were just as impressed with the results as I was. Not only that, they were coming back for more and suggesting I should commercialize it. So I'm very happy to be offering you handmade balms as well as soaps. Presented in lightweight, attractive aluminium jars they make the perfect accompaniment to any soap gift.

What exactly are balms and how do they work? They work to help protect, nourish, moisturize and bring back balance to your skin against the things in life that can affect it such as harsh winter weather, sun, pollution, stress, work, ageing.

Similar to body butters they can be used exactly like creams and work by lubricating and softening skin and preventing moisture loss by forming a barrier. Some people may find using a balm instead of cream a bit strange at first and worry that it may be too oily for their skin. If you use only a little to begin with you'll soon get used to it and become confident in its ability to be totally absorbed by your skin, leaving it fresh-looking and plumped.

My unique recipe of oils, butter and wax is full of vitamins and nutrients which nourish the skin, unlike mineral preparations such as Vaseline which do not. These balms have been specially created to suit most skin types. They are 100% natural and made entirely from botanical ingredients.

Simple All Over Balm

Base ingredients: Sunflower Oil (rich in vitamins A, D, and especially vitamin E and essential fatty acids); Sweet Almond Oil (helps to leave skin soft and satiny smooth, non-greasy, easily absorbed, rich in vitamins A, B1, B2, B6 and E, calms skin irritation); Watermelon Seed Oil (a very light, very nourishing, super-absorbant oil, rich in omega 6 & 9 EFA); Olive Wax (obtained from olive oil, similar to beeswax); Avocado Butter ( ); Vitamin E Oil (promotes skin rejuvenation, elasticity and health).

This is your basic "good for everything" balm and very handy to have around (I wouldn't be without a jar of this!). Made with the base recipe ingredients it is fragrance-free and ideal for those with sensitive skin and helps care for cracked heels, splits and cracks, chapped lips, insect bites, minor cuts, grazes, minor burns, cold sores, sunburn, dry, itchy skin. I know it's common sense, but I have to say please be aware that for serious skin conditions and injuries it is always advisable to consult with your doctor.

Massage into any place that may need caring for at any time or use as a luxurious après-bath or shower body treat. For very dry skin apply to damp skin.
