THE LIFE AND TIMES OF STRONSAY SCHOOL

After the beautiful weather this week, the sun decided to have a rest while the pupils and staff ventured down to St Catherine's Bay to "Bag the Bruck". Luckily, we're hardy specimens so the wind and the high tide did little to dampen our enthusiasm. Some of you may have seen us walking in crocodile fashion, resplendent in our hi-viz jackets, with a song in our hearts and sand in our shoes, as we made our way back to school. We always see our pupils at their best on occasions such as this; the older students pairing up with the nursery children and those in Lower Primary, hand in hand, laughing and helping one another. Several bags were filled and the beach looked as nature intended.

You may have noticed how smart our school is looking. As the outside building work nears completion, and the scaffolding begins to come down, we are very pleased with how bright and welcoming our school now looks. There is still some roofing work to be carried out as well as a rather interesting door which has appeared near the staff room, and leads out onto a flat roof. The teachers are dreaming of sun loungers and cocktails but, as experienced Orkney weather watchers, we know it is more likely to be hot drinks and warm fleeces as we gaze at a hailstorm.

Another school year is drawing to a close. Once again, our pupils did us proud at the Leavers' Ceremony for Charlie, Erynn and Sonya. Our school orchestra played several tunes, there were songs and poems, a presentation by S3 and plenty of tears. Oh, and some tea and coffee. We are always happy to see members of the community at our assemblies so do look out for posters and messages via The Limpet. You're very welcome and we love to share our talented pupils!

We are pleased to announce that Kirsty Brown, our art teacher, has given birth to a little boy. Currently, Eilidh Marcus visits our school every Tuesday and Wednesday on maternity cover. Barbara Deavin, our English and SfL teacher is retiring at the end of term after two and a half very happy years at the school – and 37 years in teaching. And finally.....our cook and friend, Arna Cooper, is retiring after providing restaurant standard meals to our pupils for over 23 years. Some of us have the waistlines to prove it! It's time for some of us to put our feet up and for others to do us proud in the North Isles Sports. Watch this space.

SCHOLASTIC BOOK FAIR

The recent book fair raised more than £400, meaning we have almost £200 to spend on books for the school; we would like to thank everyone who helped! First off, we want to thank Jennifer for providing money for the float, sending out emails and generally helping make the book fair a possibility. We also want to thank Gaynor, for general all round help. Thank you Aiden, Andy, Ella, Aimee C, Dan and Toni-Anne for running stalls at the book fair, to all pupils and staff who helped to organise and run it, and to the community for supporting the event. Last but not least we would like to thank Mrs Evans for her help with pretty much everything. (Fraser and Eoan, S1, organisers)

Update: We sold £482.03 worth of goods which earned us a commission rate of 40% giving us £192.81 to spend on books. Thank you all and well done to Fraser and Eoan!)

BERGEN DOMKOR (BERGEN CATHEDRAL CHOIR)

Anyone on Stronsay who did not go to listen to the 30-strong Bergen Cathedral Choir (Bergen Domkor) perform in the kirk on 24 June has missed the experience of a lifetime.

Thanks to the organisers of the St Magnus Festival for making this visit possible.

Cyber Coach on Stronsay

Cyber Coach uses online virtual instructors to deliver fun, physical activity and in the past this resource has been used to enjoy Salsa and Yoga in the community. With the funding of the Stronsay Development Trust, we still enjoy a subscription to share this resource with everyone. You can enjoy it in the comfort of your home or community lessons can be organised.

There is a huge range of short courses available including;

Combat fitness	Yoga	Funk
Musical Theatre	Hip Hop	Bums and Tums
Aerobics	Salsa	Latin Aerobics
Street Dance	Tap	Commercial
Contemporary	Ballet	Body Pop

	Samba

The courses were originally designed for primary school children but I can assure you there is plenty to challenge adults so don't be put off by any suggested age range!

There really is something for everyone including the very young. There is a lovely Sing Along section in the youngest age range as well as Disco, Ballet and topics including the Zoo and Weather. Slightly older children can enjoy Bollywood, African Dancing and Disco as well.

RECENT BIRD SIGHTINGS

There was a late ‘rush’ of migrants in the last week of May, including Tree Pipit, Whinchat, Blackcap, Whitethroat and Lesser Whitethroat. Two of the latter were seen in the garden at Bennicuml by Mark Jeffery. Mark had also seen a Hobby at the ‘south end’ – probably the same ‘dark falcon’ reported in the area by several locals. Best small bird recorded was an Icterine Warbler at Gesty Dishes on 23rd - the day after Anthony had left the island. Clare did manage to see –and photograph it - from the sitting-room window! That is two years running that Icterine Warbler has been recorded in the garden there in Spring!

A very strange sighting was of two newly arrived – and clearly exhausted – Wood Pigeons in the Castle garden on the evening of 26th. They slept for two hours close to the house and then suddenly flew off never to be seen again!

‘Common Whitethroat in the Linksquoy Drive in late May’

‘The two Wood Pigeons resting outside the window at Castle’

A Quail was heard calling between the South School and Eastbank on the evening of 30th and again next day. The following day, it or another bird was discovered calling by Don Peace near the Airstrip. It was still calling late morning but was not heard again.

There was a real surprise in the Community Greenhouse when Sue noticed a Wren dashing in and out at great speed. She watched it for some time and discovered that there was a nest full of young in a hanging basket above Andrea and Adrian's plot. (Wrens nested in the greenhouse two years ago).

A party of 11 Sanderlings – probably still heading northwards to the breeding grounds in the high Arctic – were on the beach at Bomasty Bay briefly on 3rd June. The only small migrant after this date was a Spotted Flycatcher along the Airy Road on 10th.

This summer – so far – has seen a noticeable difference in bird numbers on the larger lochs – particularly the Matpow which seems to have been deserted by the Graylag Geese. There have been ducks on the loch all through early summer, including broods of Mallard and Gadwall, and Coots have successfully bred there after a long absence. If this pattern continues the Arctic and Common Terns which have nested there for generations until recently, will hopefully return to their island 'home'. The same applies to the Rothiesholm Moor which has been virtually deserted by most nesting species for several years now. There was a permanent state of turmoil above the moorland in past years which played host to colonies of Arctic Terns, Common Gulls, and Arctic Skuas – all predated by the Great Skuas which have also suffered a huge decline in breeding numbers – because of the lack of prey in the area. The moorland is now virtually silent throughout the year – but one plus this year is the number of Snipe 'drumming' – almost certainly due to the much reduced numbers of Greylag Geese and Great Skuas. There also seems to be a small but noticeable increase in the number of Curlew nesting in the pastureland this year.

Two Whooper Swans have been seen throughout early summer in the Meikle Water/South School area, although there is no sign of nesting (see photo below).

'The two adult Whooper Swans opposite the South School'

Two species which have bred successfully this year are Sedge Warblers at several sites and a pair of Reed Buntings, which have been seen feeding young close to the road at Matpow. One pair of birds which were not so successfully were the Rock Pipits which attempted to nest in the box housing the water-point on the Ro-Ro pier (see photos on next page). One egg had been laid but the birds had probably realised that the site was too public and re-built elsewhere. Thanks to Alex of Arifea for alerting us to this interesting find.

There has been only one recorded sighting of Peregrine Falcon this summer – the bird below was seen along the Airy Road on 2nd June:
Many thanks again for all the calls. John & Sue.

THIS MONTH'S FEATURED AREA: HOLIN COTTAGE AND LINKSQUOY

Situated on the east side of the island there have been many fantastic sightings of migrant species in this area, mainly among the trees and bushes, and one can only guess just how many birds have been missed skulking in the Rosa rugosa hedges. The fence and hedge to the North of the complex is one of the best places on the island to find small insect-eating species during migration – particularly in the sun during the afternoon when the dense foliage gives ideal shelter from Easterly winds. (We watch there regularly as passing motorists will know!). When the wind is in the North or West many migrant birds are generally to be found feeding on the hedge/fences on the South side of the complex, facing towards Clayquoy.

Barred, Icterine, and Yellow-browed Warblers are almost annual in Autumn around the gardens, and several other rare species of warbler have been seen in the area including Dusky, Greenish, Arctic, Melodious, and Subalpine – a fantastic array! Rosefinches and Bluethroats have also been recorded, and a Barn Owl was discovered roosting in the fir tree close to the road some years ago. Long-eared and Short-eared Owls have also been seen hunting in the area. Waxwings were recorded – eating rose-hips - in late Autumn in 2010, 2012, and 2016, and a Hawfinch was also found among the rose-hips, in 2011. The only island record of Pine Bunting perched briefly along the North fence (where else!) - on 15th October 2016, and given the amount of cover around the two houses it is not surprising that Chiffchaffs have wintered in the area on more than one occasion.

One of the first 'uncommon' migrants we recorded on the island was this Red-backed Shrike – on the 'North fence' at Holin Cottage before the hedge was planted. Note the old 'Linkshouse' in the background, replaced in the early 90s:

Two Great Spotted Woodpeckers desperately searching for food – also on the same ‘North fence’ - on a gloomy day during the big ‘fall’ of the species in Autumn 1993.

Another rather distant ‘shot’ – taken from the car at the roadside (as with the two photos above), this Golden Oriole flew right across the road in front of us as we scanned the fence, and perched on the tall Rosa rugosa at the house-end of the Linksquoy drive for several minutes. Typically of the species, It was never seen again!

This obliging Wryneck perched on the North fence at the Holin Cottage end, giving us wonderful views of the bird’s amazing plumage in early Autumn 2015.

A juvenile Red-breasted Flycatcher on the opposite (south) side of the garden complex, also in Autumn 2015 – in a North wind!

This Blyth's Reed Warbler - in moult - was present in the area for several weeks in Autumn 2015 but was very difficult to locate amongst the dense fuchsia and roses behind the 'North fence'.

An amazing find among the cattle across the road from Holin Cottage in October 2014, this Cattle Egret was the first to be seen in Orkney.

A pure fluke on a quiet Sunday morning in October 2015, this Pallid Harrier posed perfectly and spent ten minutes or so preening on a fence-post directly opposite the Linkshouse Drive before flying off towards Airy. No passing traffic for ten minutes was an amazing stroke of fortune for us - watching the bird from inside our own car!

A juvenile Rosy Starling (left hand bird, Starlings to the right) on the Linkshouse roof in October 2016. It was seen twice in the area but never close enough for us to obtain anything other than 'record' shots.

STEPHEN CLACKSON'S LETTER FROM SCHOOL PLACE

On the 12th June, The Islands (Scotland) Bill was published by the Scottish Government, the measures in which will include: a requirement to “island-proof” future legislation & policies, the creation of a national islands plan, and greater flexibility around councillor representation within island communities (which could benefit our North Isles ward, in particular). This bill has arisen as a direct result of the Our Islands Our Future campaign, initiated and carried through by our former convener, Dr Steven Heddle with the support of OIC's Constitutional Reform Working Group, of which I was (and still am) a member.

At the first Education, Leisure & Housing (ELH) Committee meeting of the new council, I proposed Cllr John Ross Scott (a former popular house parent at the Papdale Halls of Residence—see below) for my previous role of vice-chair. He was appointed unopposed. As I wished, I was re-appointed to the Orkney College Management Council and appointed to the new Education Quality & Standards Consultative Group. Also, I am continuing on the Local Housing Strategy Working Group.

Cllr Scott (3rd from right) bids farewell to some students and staff at the Papdale Halls

At the start of the ELH meeting I requested that two items which were to be taken in camera should be taken in public. I succeeded with one of them: the item recommending that the North Ronaldsay Schoolhouse be leased to the North Ronaldsay Trust (with a view to utilising it as a gateway house), the Shapinsay Schoolhouse and land at Helliar be sold to the Shapinsay Development Trust (for developing affordable housing), and the Eglisay Community Association be permitted to purchase or lease the Eglisay Schoolhouse (as a flexible housing resource)—all good-news stories that deserved to be publicised.

Journalist and writer, Magnus Linklater wrote a foreword to our 10-year strategy for the arts (Orkney's Creative Future) in which he mentions Max's legacy to the musical tradition of Orkney ... “the extraordinary playing of local fiddlers and accordionists”. This encouraged me to remind everybody of the importance of retaining free musical tuition and instrument hire for our children. In the item on our Museums Forward Plan 2017-22, I asked if the service will support non-OIC heritage centres (such as those on many of our islands) to acquire museum accreditation, and I was assured that it will, by, for example, providing mentoring.

One of the performance indicators used in monitoring our council services is recruitment & retention of permanent staff, and this currently stands at “green”. At the Policy & Resources (P&R) Committee meeting (and ELH, too), I requested that we add recruitment & retention of non-permanent staff to our indicators, as this may give a somewhat different complexion on things. We agreed that the next 2 islands to have the Empowering Communities project rolled out to them will be Hoy and Sanday, and towards the end of the P&R meeting, councillors unanimously assented to progressing plans for a council-owned, large-scale wind-farm development. If constructed, this will generate a much-needed income stream for OIC. As readers will know, I have long been calling for an enterprise like this. It is good to know that the council “Zeitgeist” has (at last) caught up with me.

Councillor induction has been continuing, and we have also been having “member priority sessions”, at which we’ve been discussing what the priorities of the new council should be, and where we have had the opportunity to input issues of particular concern to our respective wards and the commitments we made in our manifestos. There have been two meetings already of the Orkney & Shetland Valuation Joint Board, and I have attended my first meetings of the board of Orkney Ferries Ltd and of the Orkney Health & Care Committee. I’ve also had my first Monitoring & Audit Committee meeting of this council.

Out in the Isles, I’ve been to a meeting of Sanday’s community council, and after the council recess I shall be going to Stronsay for a meeting of theirs. I am looking forward to flying to Eday on 28th June to see the school-bairns’ Magnus 900 performance at the Heritage Centre, and to spectating at the North Isles Sports in Sanday on 1st July (in which 2 of my children are competing).

On account of the unexpected “snap” General Election, our community council elections have been postponed until after the shows, and details of dates will be published in August. Notably, at these elections 16- & 17-year-olds will not only be eligible to vote, but will also be eligible to stand! So, if you are in this age-group, have a think about it.

It’s been pretty “full on” since the council election, so I’m looking forward to the council recess, although there are still a few meetings to go before it starts.

HOME ENERGY SCOTLAND LOAN SCHEME

The Scottish government has introduced a new energy efficiency scheme called the Home Energy Scotland Loan, which replaces two separate and existing programmes. The scheme is designed to help householders improve the efficiency of their home heating source, enable money-saving improvements for their properties and also protect the environment.

The Home Energy Scotland Loans Scheme is currently open for applicants, with a total of £34 million in funding available in interest-free loans for measures including the installation of high efficiency oil boilers. Funding of up to £32,500 per home is available, both for owner occupiers and registered private sector landlords in Scotland.

Oil heating installations under the scheme must be carried out by an OFTEC registered business.

For more information please follow this link:

www.energysavingtrust.org.uk/scotland/grants-loans/home-energy-scotland-loan.

If you have an old standard non condensing boiler you could save up to 20% on your fuel costs by switching to a new condensing boiler. Even if you own a condensing boiler which has seen a few too many winters the new "Blue Flame" burner technology makes certain condensing boilers a highly efficient alternative.

This scheme will also cover upgrading insulation or help towards a renewable system such as a hybrid air source/oil heating system.

Please contact your resident OFTEC registered technician for more information

FIRE AT LODGE FARMHOUSE, STRONSAY IN 1858

From Jim Cooper

The Orcadian, Monday, January 18, 1858.

Destructive Fire.

On the evening of Monday 4th January, a fire broke out at the farm house of Lodge, occupied by Mr John Yvatt, isle of Stronsay and entirely consumed the dwelling house, including about forty pounds sterling in money. The fire originated, we believe, by the herd boy going under the bed with a light to look for something about nine o'clock, when some straw hanging from the bottom of the bed caught fire, and before the alarm was given, it was impossible to save anything. Mr Yvatt, an old infirm man, his wife, and his son, were the only parties in the house at the time. The son, immediately on discovering the fire, made every effort in his power to extinguish it, but failing in this, his next effort was to save his aged parents, and before this was effected, the boy was in flames. The boy, with whom the fire originated, observing the bed to have ignited, instead of giving the alarm cowardly absconded through mistaken fear. The sight of flames brought up almost the whole inhabitants of the island, by whose assistance the fire was prevented from spreading to the office houses, one of which, at least, was in eminent danger, and but for timely assistance must have also fallen a prey to the devouring element. The house was well furnished, but not an article was saved except what the inmates had on their backs, some of whom were not even in full dress - the fire occurring at the time when they were preparing for bed. The furniture, bed clothes, and wearing apparel were all consumed, and the works of an eight day clock were melted into a shapeless mass like a blacksmith's croup.

THE CIRCLE OF LIFE

By Ellie from Newfield
Of course she's very busy,
Stress just isn't in it.
The tension and the pressure
Of never having a minute,
And last year's just won't do
Being now tatty and weather-worn.
No wonder she's so tetchy,
Working from early dawn.
She hasn't the time to preen,
There are twigs and moss to gather.
The life of a nesting bird
Would get anyone in a lather.
And when the job is done,
The model finally complete,
All those intricate workings
Tucked in nice and neat,
There are eggs to lay no less.
Imagine THAT if you will.
There's not a minute to be wasted,
You won't see her stood still.
At last they've all hatched out,
Four of them no less.
A row of open beaks
Just the definition of stress.
Four more little songsters,
The dawn chorus's new recruits,
The circle of life is complete.
Mother Nature fill your boots,
Nature's a wonderful thing,
There is no doubt about that.
And who's their greatest admirer?
Why, of course, it's the cat.

STRONSAY CRAFT FAIR DATES FOR 2017

If you would like to take part please contact Simone 616 281 to book your place

STRONSAY CRAFT FAIR

Our first annual craft fair in May was once again a great success, showcasing the work of our very talented local craftspeople. Speaking on behalf of the crafting community we would like to thank the Stronsay Community Association and in particular Wilma Holland for all the hard work and support that went into organizing the Hall and the ladies who provided us with refreshments and delicious home bakes. Our warm thanks go out to Jan Crisp who came over from Birsay for her third year running to sell at the fair. Stronsay support was massive and we thank you all for making this such an enjoyable event on our island calendar. Finally, well done and many thanks to all the craftspeople for your enthusiasm, participation and the wonderful work produced that all go into making Stronsay Craft Fairs so popular.

Moncur Church has received a grant from “Your Island, Your Choice” to run a lending library from the church hall. This will open on a Monday afternoon in the months when the mobile library does not come to Stronsay. We hope to open for the first time in June. To do this we need to stock our shelves with books. If you need them picking up please phone Mike or Viv on 616339.
